Believed to be Engaged in Scheme to Import Both Chinamen and Opium.

SEATTLE, Aug. 2.—It is announced that the Commission recently appointed at Washington to inquire into the workings of the Chinese restaurant industry will have as its first session a study of the Chinese restaurant located in San Francisco. While the investigation is being conducted, it is believed that the Chinese restaurant industry in that city of the habits of the earning money Chinaman, it is in the customs district of Puget Sound that the almost-veiled celestial find special scope for plotting and planning an unrestrained entrance into Uncle Sam's domain, and the notoriously corrupt conditions of the Puget Sound customs service has again and again been brought to the notice of the Administration at Washington.

WORKINGMEN AGAINST HARRISON.

They Declare Themselves Unentirely Opposed to His Election.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 2.—A large and significant mass meeting of laboring men was held here to-night, and it split on a proposition to elect a delegate to the national convention to nominate for Governor. About 150 went to the Governor's house, where nothing significant passed except an interchange of courtesies and compliments. The remainder, about 200, remained in the hall below.

Under a call from the position, friends of Benjamin Harrison, published in the daily papers of Indianapolis, for a mass meeting of laboring men for the purpose of electing a delegate to the national convention to become the candidate of the Republican party to cross the Straits of Isthmus, the following resolutions were adopted: "Resolved, That the workingmen of this city, in view of the fact that the successful party soon afterward is a fact well known to the people, and that the party which is successful in the election of a President of the United States will have a new day's ago an ex-custome officer, a proached one of the inspectors on the Seaboard, and a man who has been known to have a vote to allow free transport of thirty pounds to optimum each trip.

1. We are unalterably opposed to the election of Benjamin Harrison to the Presidency of the United States because his life and official record fully demonstrate that he is unworthy to represent the people of this country and has no proper regard for the interests of the laboring classes.
2. That we are not to be longer deceived by a system of extortionate "war taxation," although it nominally is for the purpose of raising money for the support of war workers for the benefit of wealthy trusts and combines.
3. That we demand cheaper necessities of life, a wider market for our products, and that the American home shall not be transformed into a grog shop and a gambling den.
4. That to become a candidate on the Republican ticket is to become a traitor to the people.

this will be filed at an early date. The national platform adopted at Indianapolis was exdorced, and the committee having the matter in charge reported this resolution touching emigration:

We asrain both parties, who by their platforms seek to bring about a change in the government, are now coming to us shorn, bringing habits and customs which imperil the safety of our government. We sided with the majority to revise the naturalization laws so that citizenship shall not be conferred upon alien races, and that a year shall be required before a citizen can become a citizen.

The resolution met with violent opposition from most of the speakers declaring it to be in violation of the Constitution, and it was voted down by 83 to 6. Gov. St. John leaves for New York to-morrow.

Blaize on Chamberlain.

CONK, Aug. 2.—It is reported that Mr. Blaize, in conversation with some Town Commissioners who went on board the steamer City of New York, said he could not understand how Mr. Chamberlain was led to say that there were few prominent public men in America who favored Irish home rule. It would be difficult to find any prominent public men in the present Americans who were not home rulers. He did not believe in Mr. Chamberlain's assertion that the influence of the Irish was almost wholly gone.
